DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

1. The Democracy of Ohlo, in convention assembled, hereby expresses its hearty commendation of the efficient, economical and honest administration of President Cleveland.

2. We adhere to the declaration of the Democratic party in its nations platform that protection is fraud, and while we recognize the benefit of the reduction of duties on lesports just made by congress, we favor such further reduction as can be made having in view the revenues necessary to be raised for the support of the government, to the end that the injustice of purely protective duties be abolished. We congratulate the constry upon the repeal of the McKinley tar if and the enactment of a tariff law in its stead, under the operation of which trade and business are reviving, and the country again becoming prosperous. The McKinley tariff went into operation less than four years ago, yet in that short period the country changed from prosperity to a condition of financial and industrial depression suparalluled in our history as a nation. Under its operation the revenues derived from duties on imports decreased to a som insufficient to meet the expenses of the government shereby necessitating the sale of bonds, and a consequent increase of the bonds bearing debt of the government. Under its operation the produce of the farmer, especially wheat and wool, brought the lowest prices reached since the war. While it was in force, there were harder times, more produce of the farmer, especially wheat and wool, brought the lowest prices reached since the war. While it was in force, there were harder times, more paulos, more business houses bankrupted, more paulos, more business houses bankrupted, more forced sales, and more distress and destitution than was ever known in this ccuntry in the same length of time. The Republican pretense that these results were caused by the change of administration is so unsupported by facts that denial seems unnecessary for it must not be overlooked thas until withsales, and more different and the same length of time. The Republican pretense that these results were caused by the change of administration is so unsupported by facts that denial seems unnecessary; for it must not be overlooked that until within the last 30 'ays every commodity bought or sold inclinding every bushel of grain and every pound of wool in the market, was bought and sold under the McKinley tariff, which was in full operation doing its perfect work; and that since its repeal, business has revived and the market improved, which is a complete answer to the charge.

3. We dissent from the president's views, construction and treatment of the silver question and, therefore, believe the silver should be restored to the position it occupied as money prier to its demonification by the Republican party, and to that end we favor the unlimited free coinage of silver at the legal ratio of 16 to 1 and with equal legal tender power.

4. We denounce the recent Republican legislature of Ohic as the most extravagant, venal and corrupt known to the history of this state. It adjourned at a time when some of its members charged their follow members with bribery and when the people were calamorous for investigation. It would not suffer investigation, for that meant conviction. Not to investigate was to plead guilty. It chose the latter alternative. Its appropriation of the public money to pay its members a salary for two sessions, while holding but one, was a crime which merits the condemnation and supreme conof every taxpayer, being a salary grab of the tempts of every taxpayer, being a salary grab of the worst character.

5. We denounce the administration of Governor McKinley for being the most extravagant known in the annals of our state, supplemented by shameful, scandalous and immoral conduct of his appointees in the management of their offices, some of whom are under indictments for felonies, others disminsed from office for offenses too indelicate to name, while others yet remain in office though publicly charged with grave and immoral conduct and gross mismanagement of public affairs.

6. The Democratic party has always been the champion of equal rights and religious liberty. It has ever been hostile to political protectificing on secount of religious opision. We therefore demounce the American Protective associations and all organizations which make religious belief a test of political preferment.

7. We favor liberal pensions to worthy soldiers, and marines, their widows and orphans.

8. Realizing the growing danger from the use of money in elections, we favor the enactment of a "corrupt practices" law, limiting the amount of money to be expended by candidates; requiring the republication after election by all candidates and campaign committees of itemized statements of all money expended, and fixing for richare of office and disfranchisement as the penility for violating its provisions.

9. The system of giving passes to persons in pubdistranchisement as the penity for violating to provisions.

9. The system of giving passes to persons in public office which has been practiced by corporations has reached a stage which demand condemnation by the people. We therefore favor such legislation as will make it a miedemeanor for any person to accept, or for any railroad corporation or for any of its officers or agents to give to such public officers a pass upon any railroad in this state.

10. We favor the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people.

HUMAN WEATHER INDICATORS.

Effects of Atmospheric Changes on A writer in The American Journal of Psychology discusses the subject from the view of common experience and presents some facts that are interesting as well as leading in their directness "The head of a factory employing 3,000 workmen said, 'We recken that a disagreeable day yields about 10 per cent less work than a delightful day, and we have thus to count this as a factor in our profit and loss account. Accidents are more numerous in factories

"A railroad man never proposes changes to his superior if the weather is not propitious. Fair days make men accessible and generous and open to consider new problems favorably. Some say that opinions reached in best weather states are safest to invest on."

Other facts are mentioned in the psychical and physiological relations, as: "Weather often affects logic, and many men's most syllogistic conclusions are varied by heat and cold. The knee jerk seems proved to have another factor. It is not strange if the eye, which wants the normal stimulus in long, dark weather, causes other changes.' Temperament is a fundamental factor in sensitiveness to atmospheric changes, that type of it called the mental being the more intensely affected, while the bilious type may exhibit by comparison the more capricious or morbid impressions, says The Phrenological Journal. The mental manifestations, as a rule however, depend upon the organism primarily. If the culture is good—that is, the faculties have been trained to co-ordinate harmonious action, and the elements that contribute to serenity and self control have been well developed -weather conditions will but operate like other parts of the environment, and self training will show adaptation, self

The "nervous," excitable, irascible person is he who has not learned to control feeling and expression, and it is he who finds fault with his surroundings and imputes uncanny conduct to them. That there are functional states of the body that predispose one to mental depression or exhilaration we are ready to admit. A torpid liver, a chronic catarrh, a rheumatic joint and even an old corn may render one susceptible to weather changes, the physical ailment producing a nerve reaction that is keenly felt at the spiral centers and may test the spirit. Mind, however, is superior to matter, or rather constituted for superiority. Fairly organized, carefully developed and trained, it will exhibit that superiority by its pose and calmness in circumstances that are disagreeable or painful to the physical sense.

WERE BOUND TO PLAY POKER.

Newspaper Men Out of Cash Put Up Their Brains For Stakes.

Poker has been played with everything from pea beans to a hundred dollar bill, but perhaps the most curious commodity that was ever passed about over the green cloth occurred the other night among a party of newspaper men. Somebody suggested the evening hours would pass more quickly if all hands indulged in the national game. Every one was willing, but when an account of stock was taken it was discovered that there was only about $1.50 in playing for "wind." After a little discussion some one had an idea, which he put in these words: "Let's appoint a committee of two as judges; then for an hour let us each sit down and write short stuff for the Sunday paper. Everything that the committee agrees upon as being good enough to be printed shall be accepted as cash and can be paid in as equivalent for a stack of chips.

This idea met with instant favor, and for an hour or more nothing could be heard in that room but silence. At the end of that time each one produced his quota of alleged interesting stories, and the committee to which it was submitted, reading it all with a lenient eye, passed nearly the whole lot.

Then the game began and furnished the curious spectacle of men opening jackpots for a quarter of a column and anteing with a "stick," with a fixed limit of a column, including the head. -New York Herald

Ball Lightning.

The occurrence of what is known as ball lightning is so rare that every instance of it is of some interest. The London Lancet describes a narrow escape from death by this form of lightning, which was experienced by a distinguished surgeon of Louvain, who had gone to visit a patient in a neighboring town. He was overtaken by a thunderstorm, and what he described as a ball of fire descended upon and rendered him for some time unconscious.

On coming to himself he found that the cloth of the umbrella which he had been holding was completely burned off its steel framework, the metal being twisted into every shape. A FULL COURSE DINNER.

The Feast to Which the Old Man Was Enabled to Invite His Comra "A Full Course Dinner, 13 Cents," is the most conspicuous sign on the front of that famous Park row restanrant known to all trampdom in particular and the public in general as "The Boss Tweed." As the patrons of the establishment are not bothered by superstition, or at least not in a sufficient measure to clash with their appreciation of such a generous offer as a "full course" dinner for 18 cents, the meal fourth wife told him he was to old to in question is a vastly popular one get married.

Into the "Boss Tweed" one evening shortly after dusk there entered an individual of surpassing shabbiness of raiment, but who was both dignified and handsome. soldier who is proud of his record. In appearance he was a shabby and time-worn edition of that type of cavalryman one sees in pictures of the first Napoleon's campaigns, for his iron gray mustache bristled fiercely, and he wore an imperial on his chin. He was pale, old chap approached the cashier's counter and said, "May I ask you to inform me what your dinner for 18 cents consists of?" "Yes, sir," replied the cashier. "You get soup, fish, roast, two vegetables, bread and butter, a cut of pie and a cup of coffee. "Ah-h-h-h — ah-h-h-h, h-m-m-m! Most generous, I'm sure," said the old fellow slowly, nodding his head in confirmation of his words, and then he leaned over the counter, and in a lower tone added: "I have asked a gentleman to dine with me this evening. Might I inquire if you could arrange so as to let me have two dinners for a quarter?'
